

The IATEFL learning technologies and teachers development 26-27 may 2012 at yeditepe university

Developing Lessons Using Technology

Benmostefa Nawel

Abstract :

This paper sheds light on how teachers plan, deliver, and assess lessons while integrating technology. In gross, it strives to answer the following questions: What is meant by “lesson development using technology” to meet educational standards? What are the “student learning objectives” and “understanding by design” models of lesson planning? And, how can teachers assess their students?